

Assistant Professor in Elementary Education

The University of North Carolina at Pembroke School of Education seeks to fill an academic, tenure-track position as Assistant Professor in the Elementary Education Department beginning August, 2012.

Responsibilities include: teaching undergraduate and graduate students, supervision of interns, advising students, service on School of Education and University committees, maintaining an active research agenda, engaging in professional development and assessment and evaluation of standards-based programs.

Qualifications include: an earned terminal degree in Elementary Education, Curriculum and Instruction, or a related field, eligibility for North Carolina elementary education teaching licensure and a minimum of three years successful teaching experience at the elementary level. Candidates should also provide evidence of supporting pre-service and in-service teachers, commitment to equity and diversity in public schooling, experience in collaboration with elementary faculty and school partners and expertise in technology integration in the classroom. Review of credentials will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

For full consideration apply online using the UNCP Online Employment System (<https://jobs.uncp.edu>). Attach a cover letter, curriculum vitae, and unofficial transcripts. Please provide names of three references including professional title, telephone number and email address. The University of North Carolina at Pembroke is an equal employment/affirmative action employer. Minorities, veterans and women are encouraged to apply. AA/EEO.